A friend in the jungles at Java, heading an oil expedition, writes to us, telling of his experience among the natives.

He is the only white man in a section that is densely populated by natives.

Savage beasts roam about. At night when he camps, four or five of his trusted natives stand guard, protecting the camp from the animals.

Twice he has had narrow escapes . . . once from a huge snake . . . another time from a tiger.

Yet he remained cool and calm.

In his infrequent letters, he sends pictures of himself, with gun in hand and one foot resting upon the neck of some savage beast that he shot.

For one month he was alone with his native gun carrier in a region populated by one of the most savage native tribes.

Yet he was unafraid.

JEWEL STORE THEFT LAID TO BOY

A robbery that occurred here on Aug. 21 resulted in the arrest of a 17 year old youth in northern California yesterday.

David Bennets, 17, of Richmond was placed under arrest by Fort Bragg authorities yesterday and was held for the local police.

He is suspected of robbing the W. R. Stribling Jewelry store here on Aug. 21.

Bennets is also suspected of a number of other robberies committed in Richmond, according to police.

Upon his return here, he will be closely questioned by authorities.

His arrest in Fort Bragg followed the discovery of a number of clues here by Police Chief Dan Cox.

Chief Cox forwarded the information to the northern department and Bennets was placed under arrest.

The Stribley Jewelry store robbery here was one of a series of robberies here. Police believe that Bennetts may be able to throw some light upon the other thefts.

POLICE HOLD TWO RING LEADERS

The theft of more than 20 bicycles, reported to the police within a period of several months, was solved yesterday morning with the arrest of two San Pablo boys. Names of the youths, who are between the ages of 13 and 14, were withheld by police.

Several other boys were implicated in the thefts, but were later released by police.

Ten of the stolen bicycles were recovered, as were the parts to a number of others.

Bicycles Stolen

Since the start of school, bicycles have been reported stolen almost every other day.

Working on the theory that a gang of boys was responsible, the police immediately launched an investigation.

Acting through numerous tips, the police soon took into custody a number of boys who had been given either complete bicycles or parts. These boys were quizzed, and they revealed the names of the two boys.

Police then went to the homes and placed the two boys under arrest. They were said by police to have confessed to the thefts.

Boys Confess

According to police reports, ten bicycles were found. The parts of many of them had been interchanged and identification has been destroyed. It is said that it will be impossible for some of the machines to be identified by their owners.

The two lads were certified to the juvenile court, where they are now being held pending action.

Last year at this time several boys were arrested on similar charges after they had alleged to have stolen a number of bicycles.

MAN TO FACE CHECK CHARGE

Harold H. Hitchcock, arrested in Fairfield on a charge of passing fictitious checks, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Arthur Alstroy yesterday and bail was set at $1000.

He will appear for preliminary examination before Judge Alstrom today.

Early End Of Rum Plot Trial Seen

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 18.—UP—An early end to the Lyle-Whitney conspiracy trial was predicted today as the government began its introduction of rebuttal testimony in an attempt to cinch its charges that four former prohibition officials conspired to break the bribery, prohibition and tariff laws.

Only two defense witnesses appeared before the government started its rebuttal. William Whitney, former legal advisor to the prohibition unit, and one of the defendants, and Mrs. Earl Corwin, wife of the former field agent, were on the stand for brief periods.

The government had a long list of character witnesses to testify in support of previous testimony accusing Whitney, Corwin, Roy C. Lyle suspended dry administrator and Richard Fryant, former agent, of accepting bribes.

Ralph Read, government investigator, first of the rebuttal witnesses, testified that several reports prepared by Alfred Hubbard and Fryant when they were dry agents were not turned over to him when he was investigating charges of graft in the dry unit in 1927.

Most of the government's character witnesses were attorneys who were subjected to close questioning by the defense regarding their activities as lawyers in liquor cases. They included Bert C. Ross, former deputy prosecutor of King county, George H. Crandall, Don Kitzer, Joseph Scheney and Nat. U. Brown.

The tenure of character testimony was that "the general reputation of Whitney, Corwin and Fryant was bad." Lyle's name was not brought into the questioning asked by the government as to character.

Probe Looms In Girl Flier Death

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 18.—UP—In a dense early morning fog that swept in from the sea, a heavily loaded airplane which Ruth Alexander hoped to pilot across the continent, crashed on a high plateau, bringing a tragic end to a career and a still young romance.

It was just a few minutes after the 27-year old aviator took off from Lindbergh field here for New York that she lay dead on Point Loma.

There were two conflicting stories of the tragedy. Some believed that the girl saw a hill before her and tried to give the heavy plane altitude too quickly. Others said that the motor was sputtering.

Room Searched

A dozen hours after Ruth Alexander died, a search of her room disclosed a note to a husband of whom no one was believed to have been aware. The girl left a message to the husband, Robert Elliott, navy flier formerly stationed at North Island here and now in Brooklyn. She told of their secret marriage last June in Yuma, Ariz.

In the note to Elliott there was

Ape Boy Will Meet Mother

SAN QUENTIN, Sept. 18.—UP—Gordon Stewart Northcott, who has exhausted nearly every means to escape execution on the gallows here two weeks from today, agreed this afternoon to a proposal by Warden James B. Holohan that he see Mrs. Christine Collins, mother of one of the boys he was accused of killing on his Wineville ranch.

"Well, it's only two weeks now," Northcott remarked, as Warden Holohan left his cell.

Mrs. Collins had requested an opportunity to talk with Northcott and attempt to learn from him the actions of her son during the last hours he was alive.

Northcott recently received Mr. and Mrs. A. Winslow of Pomona, whose two sons, Louis and Nelson, vanished from Northcott's ranch and who came on a mission similar to that of Mrs. Collins, and as they left Northcott said:

"I don't want any more of that."

DIVORCE FOR BEERY SEEN

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 18.—UP—The affairs of Noah Beery and his wife, Marguerite, remain tangled tonight with many members of the Hollywood colony of the opinion that Mrs. Beery shortly will start a divorce action.

Beery could not be reached for a reply to the statement issued last night when Mrs. Beery suddenly returned to Hollywood after a mysteriously nine-day absence in Las Vegas, Nev.

Mrs. Beery immediately secluded herself in the home of a friend and issued a statement to newspapermen by telephone.

She declared that she went to Las Vegas to establish a residence and merely laughed when asked if this meant a coming divorce action.

Raymond Wells, a film director who once was beaten by Noah Beery, entered the case when it was learned he had been seen with Mrs. Beery in Las Vegas where he said he was called on business.

Although Beery conferred with department of Justice officials, the Federal authorities have taken no action as yet.

Beery left Hollywood by automobile last night and was said to be at his ranch, miles from the city.

STANFORD TO MEET ARMY TOMORROW

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Sept. 18—With but five days of practice behind them, "Pop" Warner's Cardinal gridders will take on the up-and-coming West Coast Army eleven here Saturday afternoon, in their season opener.

The soldiers will have the advantage of several weeks practice and one game played, which should help make them tough opponents. Army surprised nearly all football followers by its great stand against the Olympic Club last Sunday and may have other unexpected jolts in store for Stanford. Uncle Sam's boys went right out and got two touchdowns on the clubmen in the first few minutes of play and were never headed until the fourth quarter when they finally lost out, 19 to 13.

Warner's 1930 squad is necessarily an unknown quantity at present, inasmuch as eight of last year's regulars were missing when "Pop" called the boys together on Monday. There seems to be few "fixtures" on the Cardinal eleven and a number of men will probably be tried out Saturday.

Perry Taylor and Mar Albertson are battling it out for the center post with honors approximately even and either may draw the starting assignment. Pete Heiser and Bi'l Bardin seem to be "Pop's" choices for the guard jobs with Ray Dawson, "Red" Hand and Ted Kite not far behind. All of these boys, and probably others, will get into action Saturday.

Captain Ray Tandy will hold forth at one tackle position and the other will doubtless be occupied by Dick Bogue, although C. Ehrhorn will have his chance, too. Phil Neill is certain to be at one end but the other wing position is very much open to question. Bil' Doub, Don Colvin, Kay Albertson and Carl Wittenau, are all possibilities and it would not be surprising to see any one of the four holding forth opposite Neill.

Hillman will draw the starting quarterback assignment with either Simkins or Rothert at full. Phil Moffatt at left ha'f and Guido Caglieri at right ha'f, are expected to round out the backfield. From all appearances, Rothert will be a jack of all trades in the backfield this season. This great athlete may be used at quarter, fullback, or right halfback and probably will see action at each position at one time or another.

Saturday's game is scheduled for 2:30 and there wi'l be no preliminary.

Cards Seen As Winners Of Flag Race

BROOKLYN, Sept. 18.—UP—The mad dash of the St. Louis Cardinals down the stretch in the National league pennant race continued today when they made a clean sweep of the three game series with the Brooklyn Robins by winning the final game, 4 to 3. A crowd of 27,000 saw the game.

With a lead of a fraction over the two games and only nine more games left to play, the Cardinals have the pennant in their clutches and will meet the Philadelphia Athletics, who clinched the American league pennant today, in the World series starting October 1 unless they show a complete reversal of their present form.

The Cardinals saved today's game in the ninth when the Robins started an uprising which for a time threatened to wipe out the Red Birds' lead.

Going into the ninth, the Cards had a 4 to 2 lead, which seemed ample with Burleigh Grimes, one time Brooklyn pitcher, going great guns. With one out, Hendrick singled off Sparky Adams' glove and Ike Boone followed with a sharp single past Bottomley, putting Hendrick on third. With the two tying runs on base, the best Lopez could do was force Warner, who ran for Boone, at second, Hendrick scoring on the play.

Jake Flowers, pinch-hitting for Thurston, popped to Mancuso along the third base line to end the game, leaving the tying run stranded.

Barring unforseen events, the Cards should coast home to the pennant as they move to Philadelphia tomorrow for a five game series against the last place Phillies, and then return home to complete the season with four games against the Pittsburgh Pirates.

SHAMROCK V. DEFEATED BY ENTERPRISE

NEW PORT, R. I. Sept. 18.—UP—Another challenger for the America's cup has been repelled and Sir Thomas Lipton has failed in his fifth attempt to win for King George and England the supreme trophy of sport at sea.

The American yacht Enterprise, designed by W. Sterling Burgess, and skippered by Harold S. Vanderbilt today sailed away from Sir Thomas' Shamrock V, last of the Shamrock line, and with great billows of sail flying from its lofty mast, skimmed across the finish line 5 minutes 44 seconds ahead of its competitor from over the seas.

In so doing Vanderbilt, his men and ship won the fourth straight race and the series.

Shamrock Game

As the whistle blew announcing that once again Enterprise had been driven home ahead, Vanderbilt turned over the wheel to a fellow member of the afterguard; only three have been won by a British yacht.

[redacted]

Machines Aided

While the showing of Shamrock V, heralded as the best of the Shamrocks, has been disappointing, it has been no more disastrous to British seamanship than the performance of the others. It met the Enterprise, a development of American millions plus the mechanistic attainments of a machine age which had its birth in this country, and tremendous ski'l of American yachtsmen and sailors.

Against that it pitted the conservatism of old England, the faith of an aged man in the power of British sailors to overcome American machines and the best of British designing skill. It was not enough.

Hence today's race started with the British already beaten in the eyes of all but themselves. But the British crew never quit fighting. Even in the last miles of the race with all chance of victory gone, they changed sail in hope of catching a few more breaths of wind to speed them a fraction a knot per hour.

Oaks Beaten Again, 6 To 5

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 18.—UP—Sacramento Senators went into a tie with the San Francisco Seals for third place of the Pacific Coast league when they beat Oakland here tonight, 6 to 5.

It was a hard fought game, Mellana's homer giving Oakland a four run lead in the first inning and a home run by Hillis sending the Senators one run ahead in the fourth. Each team scored once in the ninth, Oakland to tie the count and Sacramento to win.

Hollywood Beats S. F. Seals Again

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—UP—Hollywood made it three straight over the San Francisco Seals here today by the score of 10 to 8, but the Shieks had to fight hard to keep the Seals from tying them after they had piled up their total of ten runs and held the Seals scoreless in the first six innings. The last inning rally counted four runs for the Seals and left them two short.

PORTLAND WINS

SEATTLE, Sept. 18.—UP—Portland kept out of the cellar position of the Pacific Coast league by beating Seattle here tonight, 8 to 6.

LOCAL ELEVEN, SAN LEANDRO PLAY TODAY

The San Leandro high school even will receive the Richmond ion high school gridders on the n Leandro gridiron this after-on in the first game in which e Richmond and San Leandro otball squads have ever tangled gether.

Frank Ribbel, local football ach, believes that Richmond will ve a fine chance of trouncing n Leandro today. He a'so beves that Richmond possesses a od chance of winning this year's lameda County Athletic league otball championship.

The warriors of the Navy Blue and Red have shown an increasingly strong "punch" in each of their three games of this season. Now that the local team has learned a new bag of tricks and has perfected its offense, Richmond is reckoned upon to figure prominently in eastbay high school footba'l during the remaining part of the season.

Today's game is scheduled to start at 3:45 o'clock on the San Leandro high school field.

The Trade-mark

OLD SILVERSMITHS, in order to help people tell pure silver from cheaper imitations, marked the real thing "sterling."

In a like manner, manufacturers, who stand back of their wares, identify them with trade-marks that are your guarantee of quality. By advertising these trademarks, they focus on their products the searchlight of attention.

Only good goods, fairly priced, can flourish in this light of publicity. For no merchandise and no business can thrive under the weight of public condemnation.

That is why a manufacturer, or a merchant, places the whole reputation of his business at stake every time he advertises. His goods must be as advertised.

So, in looking through this paper, remember this: the man who spends his money to invite your consideration of his wares backs up his belief in his goods and leaves the final decision to you.

It pays you to read the advertisements. It pays you to buy advertised products.

Advertising is your protection

OHIO STATE IS GIVEN GOOD CHANCE

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—UP—Ohio State university football followers again are enveloped in the gloom which has surrounded the Buckeye campus in recent years, but Coach S. S. Williams is confident his 1930 team will prove a winner.

"The 1930 Ohio State team will be stronger than last year's team and will not 'wilt' in late season as Ohio teams have done in recent years," said Williams. "I'm basing most of my hopes on sophomore prospects but I believe they will come through. Our 1929 freshman team was unusually strong and the boys showed more liking for bodily contact than our teams of recent years."

Pessimism of Ohio fans is based on the lack of success of the 1929 Buckeye eleven, and on the fact that most of last year's stars have been lost. Of the eleven men who started the 1929 finale against Illinois only five have returned. The losses include the center and entire left side of the line, quarterback Holman and fullback Don McClure. In addition Ohio lost six reserve halfbacks and a number of linemen who won minor letters.

Returning veterans include: Wes Fesler, all-American end; Al Holcomb, fullback; Haylor, Grady, Horn and Nesser, halfbacks; Richard Larkins, Haubrich and Bell, tackles; and Sam Selby and Bill Griffith, guards.

Williams is giving Fesler a trial in the backfield and if the big end wins a ball toting job, must develop a new pair of wingmen. Olavia Sola, 190 pound sophomore, gives promise of developing into a hard-hitting fullback, something the Buckeyes have not had for several years, and appears likely to replace Holcomb, who is scheduled for a trial at quarterback.

Mike Roth, star of last year's freshman team, Don McKay, Lewis Hinchman and Bill Carroll are the best of the sophomore backs.

Ohio's schedule includes five conference and two intersectional contests and is one of the most difficult the Buckeyes have booked in many years.

The complete schedule is:

Sept. 27.—Mt. Union at Columbus

Oct. 4—Indiana at Columbus.

Oct. 11—Northwestern at Evanston.

October 18.—Michigan at Columbus.

Nov. 1.—Wisconsin at Columbus.

Nov. 8.—Navy at Baltimore.

Nov. 15—Pittsburgh at Columbus.

Nov. 22—Illinois at Urbana.

BILLY BEVAN IN FILM PLAY AT FOX

From the beginning of his theatrical career Billy Bevan has worn the tag of comedian, but his superb performance of Lieutenant Trotter in "Journey's End," the Tiffany all-dialogue production of R. C. Sherriff's famous play current at the Fox-California theater, proves that his talents have been only partially used.

In private life the soriquet that Hollywood has applied to Bevan is "gentleman farmer." He owns a large citrus and avocado pear ranch at Escondido. There he has spent his week-ends for the past five years. In order to carry on this avocation in a paying manner and not merely as a hobby, he took a course in citrus culture at the University of California. Eventually he expects to give up acting and, with his wife and two lovely daughters, make his permanent home on the ranch.

Billy was born in Orange, Australia, and is of English parentage. Early in life he took up a stage career. In his native country he played comedy leads in such popular light operas as "Floradora", "The Geisha" and "San Toy." In 1912 he came to America with the Pollard Opera company and toured Canada for one year. Then he played in dramatic stock in Vancouver.

In pictures, Bevan was identified for two years with Universal comedies, one year with Christie comedies and ten years with Mack Sennett comedies. For the past year he has been free lancing and has recently played in "High Voltage" "The Sky Hawk" "Peacock Alley" and "The Trespasser."

Bevan is first cousin to Stuart Bevan, Kings Council, in London. He loves an outdoor life and his hobbies are tennis and hunting.

Also on the program is a Mickey Mouse cartoon "The Chain Gang."

When Will You Be 42?

Today You Say—And That Is That—But Tell Me Are You Very Fat

Well if you are—It's probably your own fault—You don't know how to eat right and that's one reason.

If you would like to learn how to lose the fat you hate—and no one else likes—do as I did—Take this 30 day test—

Cut out candy, cakes—pies and ice cream—cut down potatoes, rice, —butter—cheese, cream and sugar —

Eat anything else you feel like eating but moderately—lean meat—fish—chicken — vegetables and fruit are best—

Take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts—in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—don't miss a morning—follow this advice. One woman lost 19 pounds in 4 weeks—another got rid of 47 pounds in 3 months—a New York woman lost 14 pounds with one bottle of Kruschen and is full of vim and pep, so she writes—

At La Moine Drug Co.—or any drug store in the world you can get these magic salts—one 85 cent bottle lasts 4 weeks—Ask for Kruschen Salts—an enemy to Fat.

LILLIAN GISH IN FILM AT THE FOX

Rod La Rocque, the debonair, handsome leading man, who is one of Lillian Gish's screen lovers in United Artist's all-dialogue comedy-drama, "One Romantic Night" showing at the Fox-California theater tomorrow, is a dyed-in-the-wool short-wave radio enthusiast. With a four tube set he made himself, the actor has consistently caught music broadcast from RFM in Russia, and from Bandoeng, Java; Chelmsford, Sngland and Eindhoven, Holland.

He is now interested in television and soon hopes to construct a set that will receive the televised signals sent out by the C. Francis Jenkins Laboratory in Washington, D. C.

Among other things, La Rocque has invented a telephone instrument that will automatically answer incoming calls. Patents on this device are pending.

In "One Romantic Night," which is an all-dialogue film adaptation of the internationally successful stage play "The Swan" by Ferenc Mo'nar, La Rocque impersonates the character of the bon-vivant Prince Albert who is commanded to love for political purposes and finds the command not so disagreeable after all.

Apart from its greatness as a romantic comedy-drama, the picture signalizes Miss Gish's first appearance in dialogue with a cast of all-stars whose proportions has seldom been equalled. In addition to La Rocque, Conrad Nagel, Marie Dressler, O. P. Heggie, Albert Conti, Edgar Norton, Billie Bennett and others complete Miss Gish's support.

The screen adaptation of Molnar's play was made by Melville Baker, who also first translated the play for production on an American stage.

Paul L. Stein directed "One Romantic Night" and John W. Considine, Jr., supervised it.

Also on the program is a talking comedy entitled "The Doctors Orders."

EDISON TAKES INTEREST IN AVIATION

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 18.—UP—Thomas A. Edison is more than casually interested in aviation and believes that "somebody ought to get to work right away" and further perfection of parachutes.

During an informal visit to Newark municipal airport tonight Edison bombarded Lieut. Richard Aldworth, director of the field, with questions about flying.

He examined planes and asked questions for an hour and a quarter.

Almost all of his questions reflected his doubts as to the safety of present day flying.

He wanted to know if, when a plane's motor failed in the air, the pilot can bring it safely to earth. Lieut. Aldworth explained the principle of gliding. Then Edison asked if a plane that goes into a nose dive can be righted.

Aldworth demonstrated the aelerons on a small sport ship which stood near the Edison automobile.

Edison eyed the little plane for a moment, then asked:

"How much does that plane cost?"

Lieut. Aldworth said it would cost about $5000.

"That's too much money," the famous inventor said.

Escaped Felon Arrested In S. F.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—UP—Seriously wounded while wrestling to break away from a police officer, Clifford Dixon, 30, suspected of being an escape from a Canadian prison, was under guard in Central emergency hospital here tonight.

Lieut. George K. Richards was following Dixon and when the latter started to run the officer outsprinted him. Richards claimed that when he grabbed Dixon the man tried to grab his gun and in the tussle that followed the revolver went off, and the bullet passed through Dixon's arm from wrist to elbow.

OneNight

15 INJURED IN AUTO BUS CRASH

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 18.—UP—Fifteen persons were injured, four seriously, near here tonight when a passenger bus of the Rapid Transit lines collided with an automobile.

The bus, Kansas City bound, struck a car driven by J. Waldon Wells of Tulsa, careened into a bridge rail and plunged to the bottom of a 15-foot ditch.

Those injured most seriously were:

Wells, 46, and his wife; John H. Lentz and his step-son, William Raus, 12, all of Tulsa.

The others received cuts and bruises.

V. E. Layman was driver of the bus.

Giants Beat Chicago Cubs

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—UP—The New York Giants required but one hour and twenty three minutes today to defeat the Chicago Cubs 6 to 2 and all but put the National league champions out of the pennant race.

The Cubs, with but eight more games to play, are now 2½ games back of the leading St. Louis Cardinals.

Today's game, the shortest of the season for the Polo grounds, found Freddie Fitzsimmons, portly New York right-hander, at his best. Freddie allowed the Cubs but six hits, three of which came in the fourth inning when the champions scored both their runs. While Fitzsimmons was putting on his act his mates rapped Guy Bush and Lynn Nelson for eleven safeties, including home runs by Mel Ott and Huckie Critz.

Los Angeles Wins 3rd Game

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 18.—UP—Los Angeles took its third straight game from the Missions by a five to four score here tonight in a hectic game in which the Missions once threatened to quit the field.

The disturbance came in the sixth inning when Mulligan, Mission third baseman pulled the hidden ball trick and tagged Arnold Statz as he wandered off first base. Officials failed to see the play and refused to call Statz out.

WOMEN WORK—AND HOW

WHAT the newest census figures have to say about women is of decided interest. William M. Steuart, census director, aptly celebrates the week and month beginning with Labor Day by summarizing for the public the 1930 census returns on women and the work they are doing. Here are the principal points he makes:

MARGUERITE MOOERS MARSHALL

Women are now engaging more actively in industry, trade and office work than ever before, and, of the 37,000,000 females between the ages of sixteen and sixty-four, about 10,000,000 are engaged in gainful occupations.

In addition to these 10,000,000 women, there are perhaps 23,000,000 housewives engaged in the work of keeping their own homes, most of them doing themselves the major part of the work involved in keeping the home.

Adding these housewives to the 10,000,000 classified for statistical purposes as "gainful workers," the total amounts to about ninety per cent of the whole number of women in the age group under consideration, or practically the same as the percentage of men in gainful occupations.

That is to say, the percentage of women who work approximates closely the percentage of men who work.

THIS statistical summary from the highest and most authoritative source, should end, in the United States today, all masculine gibes at feminine idleness. There are certain hackneyed phrases in which these gibes find expression—"idle wives," "idle, gossiping women," "pampered, indolent women," "idle, malicious females," "women with nothing to do but make trouble," "parasites"—phrases of which women have become justifiably weary. For the accusations simply do not fit any but isolated feminine types.

Most American women, like most American men, in one way or another work for their living. Most American women have jobs and do them.

We are glad that Mr. Steuart has not made the too common error of limiting "working women" to those who work for pay envelopes. If anybody doubts that the young wife and mother who does all her own work and takes care of two or three small and lively children is at least as arduously employed as the girl who sits at a typewriter from nine to five, that foolish skeptic should take over for twenty-four hours the combined job of mother and homemaker.

In fact, we've received an outburst of righteous indignation from Charlotte B. Wrensch, because we suggested last week that office women out of work turn temporarily to housework.

"It is just as intelligent to advise the female office worker to go in for housework as to advise her brother male worker to go in for bricklaying," fulminates Mrs. Wrensch. "Granted that the office worker has a higher degree of intelligence than the average houseworker, what she hasn't got is experience and skill and physical strength to stand up under the most exacting of jobs."

We happen to have done enough housework—at fifteen we were doing the family laundry—to disagree with our correspondent on the point that the work requires such vast physical strength, especially in a modern home and with no other complications. Incidentally, we also are amazed at her assertion that in her suburb it is possible to get a fair grade of houseworker for as little as $10 a six-day week, with five hours of work each day; "and what this worker does in five hours," insists Mrs. Wrensch, "the average office worker would consider a killing day's work and would probably require a day of rest afterward."

In our suburb, on the contrary, one has to pay from $4 to $4.50, plus lunch, plus carfare, for one eight-hour day of housework—no one whom we know has paid as little as $10 a week for domestic service since the war.

HOWEVER, we think there's no argument that housework PLUS motherhood is a job as exacting as any held by women—or men either—and this is of course THE job of a large percentage of America's 23,000,000 housewives.

What might have been an illuminating statistical return on women's work is not included in Mr. Steuart's summary. He does not list the number of two-job wives—women who are running their homes and, in addition, performing paid work outside the home. This indefatigable group is now large, among the younger wives, and is constantly growing. There are even three-job women—those who take care of their homes, bring up children and perform paid labor besides.

Many of these last-mentioned, especially in the lower-paid groups, do not merely work, they overwork. But for most women, their work is an excellent thing. They do not regret it, or rebel against it—except, perhaps, at this time of year when they're just back from vacation, or in the moments of weary discouragement such as the worker of either sex experiences. The girls of today who do not work are likely to be neither as keen nor as well balanced as those who do.

Work is no curse, either for Eve or Adam. But it's high time that some of the Adams credited most of the Eves with doing their share of the world's work!

WILD DUCKS

Up from her sleep—hours before the dawn—
To cook him muffins, coffee, eggs, and mush.
Time grew quiet after he had gone,
The slow clock ticking in a darkened hush.

He went to kill the things she loved —wild birds
That swim the waters, wing against the day;
Just as he killed her dreams that rose in words,
Leaving her chastened, silent, turning gray.

Remember Nature's First Law!

To prove that they can punish an assailant of their wives, or catch him if he runs away, French bridegrooms have been urged, by a French doctor, to pass stringent tests in wrestling, jumping, climbing, running. After reflecting upon the athletic prowess of modern American girls, we are moved to suggest that American bridegrooms pass the same tests—but for a different reason!

But not, we're guessing, by the back-seat driver herself. Not even the Supreme Court can give her any advice—she is probably the original who "seen her duty and she done it."

THINK IT OVER

By Alfalfa Smith

I SOMETIMES think flattery is like butter on toast—it may not be so good for the eater, but it makes things go smoothly. So it is with coaxing.

I do not know what our psychologists say about coaxing, but I do know that there are lots of people, especially men, who love to be coaxed.

They are just little boys who never grew up, and if you want them to do something you must coax them. Perhaps flattery will do it, and perhaps not. I leave the method to your own good judgment.

It's the pleasant things of life that make the wheels go round.

Oh, Go to Bed

"DAD, what's a horsepower? The power of a horse in doing work?"

"Well, yes, roughly, the force exerted by, or rate of work done by, a dray horse on the average, but in mechanics a horsepower is taken to be a power equal to lifting 33,000 pounds one foot in one minute."

"Who wants to lift 33,000 pounds?"

"Oh, go to bed."

A DISH A DAY

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

Once upon a time slices of ham were looked upon as a breakfast dish exclusively, but that was before the Spanish invasion of our kitchens introduced ham slices simmered in sauces of raisins and almonds. That was before the citrus growers of California encouraged chefs to research on dishes of ham combined with sauted pineapple or oranges. That was in the pre-kitchenette days before cooks had found that ham steaks could be given the flavor of a Southern roast ham by pan frying with brown sugar and cloves and a cup of cider or diluted vinegar.

KAREN HOLLIS

With all these changes and developments, sliced ham has not only graduated to the dinner table, it has found an honored place there.

Of the many ham recipes which I have tested, this unusual one is the favorite of many of my friends. It was given to me by the cook on a friend's yacht. Salt meat tastes particularly good at sea, you know, but I think you will agree with many others that this dish is delicious at any time.

CARAMELIZED HAM

Slice of ham, ½-inch thick
½ cup granulated sugar
½ cup water
1 orange, sliced

Put the sugar in a frying pan over a low fire and stir constantly until it darkens and becomes liquid. Add the water and cook for one minute. Place the slice of ham in the caramelized sugar, and turn over so that both sides are coated. Cover the top with slices of orange, put a lid on the skillet and cook over a low fire for about twenty minutes. Uncover, and cook until tender.

Modernizing the Home

Two Rooms in One

By Alma Zaiss

A PRETTY PICTURE AGAINST THE WALL IS MADE BY THIS DROP-LEAF TABLE, WHICH MIGHT BE COMPARED TO THE ONE SUGGESTED ON THE DIAGRAM.

Dear Miss Zaiss:

I have always admired your arrangements of furniture and I would appreciate so much any help you can give me to solve what seems to me a most difficult problem—that of making two rooms into one harmonious whole.

On the other side I have drawn a floor plan, using a quarter inch for every foot. One room is decorated with wallpaper and the other is painted. We have the following furniture: Upright piano, daybed, three-piece set in mohair, secretary (Queen Anne) lowboy and mirror, small end table, two-in-one table, a screen.

I would also appreciate any suggestions for additional pieces. Thank you again for your kind advice.

(MISS) S. E.

Planning for a Pleasant Vista

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

ONE of the pleasantest arrangements possible is that which gives us a vista through from room to room . . . albeit this wide open plan imposes upon the homemaker the task of making the connecting rooms equally attractive, and above all, harmonious. If we are to have a vista, it must be a good one. We want no jangling colors and inappropriate pieces to mar our peaceful contemplation of the scene.

The outstanding obligation, therefore, in the home where one room runs into another is first to give connecting rooms a somewhat similar background. That is to say, if the walls of one are violently patterned a better effect—perhaps we should say a more unified effect—will be obtained by giving the second room a like treatment. If walls in both rooms are painted, it is generally pleasing to have them tone in with each other instead of contrasting sharply.

Miss E. must use her judgment about the walls of her two rooms. One room is papered and one painted. We can conceive of a fairly happy combination, provided the papered walls are in some quiet, indefinite pattern on a deep cream or yellow or buff ground, and the painted walls are in tones that harmonize with the background of the paper. If, however, the papered walls are of a restless tapestry pattern in high colors or dull, depressing tones, and the inner room is painted a light cream, the discrepancy will be too obvious to be pleasing and that defect must be remedied before the two rooms will blend into a perfect one.

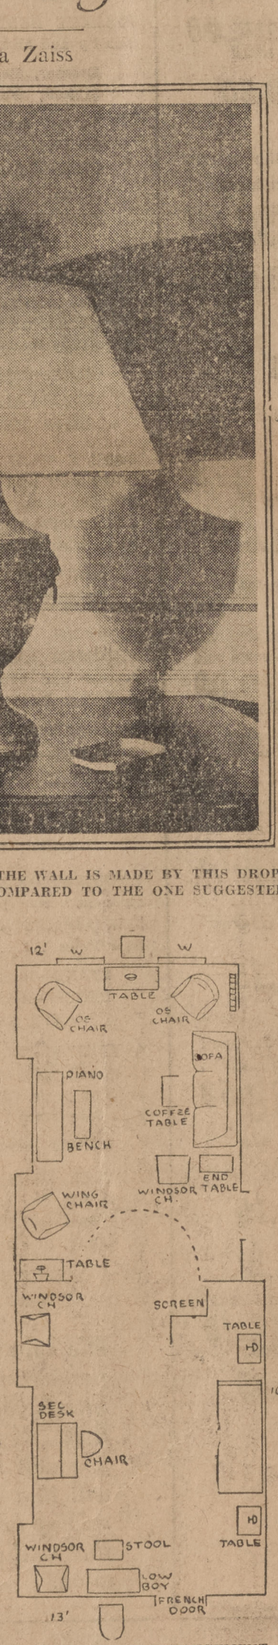

DIAGRAM OF ARRANGEMENT

The same is true of floor covering, about which Miss E. has not given us any information. In fact, assuming that she wants real, constructive help, she has given pitifully few details. This is always such a mistake . . . if one is really in earnest. However, we can do something in the way of arrangement and recommending certain new pieces which are needed to give balance and comfort to the two rooms.

It would be extremely difficult—in fact, impossible—to make two good rooms or one good combination room with the present furniture alone. We shall want more chairs and tables, and several other incidental pieces which will give warmth and friendliness to the room.

The diagram shows clearly why and where the new pieces are needed and the arrangement has been so planned that it will require as little outlay as possible, yet give a great deal of satisfaction for the amount involved.

We would make the window section of this double room the principal feature and give it our best living room pieces, using the screen to make a definite division between the two portions of the room. In the front or window section would go the sofa, two-in-one table, the two easy chairs and the piano, placed as indicated on the diagram. To make the table between the windows seem a little heavier and more important, we would hang a beautiful picture in the wall space above the table, and on top use a large bowl filled with Chinese lilies. The far corner of the room needs another chair, a fairly high-backed chair like the wing chair, with a table and lamp beside it—perhaps a small dropleaf table and a graceful urn-shaped lamp such as the one illustrated, which is a very good and substantial living room type.

An open-backed chair, such as a Windsor or slat-back chair or something of that sort, would look nice to the right of the sofa. Chairs of this type can be had for just a few dollars in unfinished furniture sections, and one can easily paint or lacquer them oneself, using dark green, if it goes well with the color scheme; black is also good at times. The coffee tray indicated would also help, and it, too, could be a painted piece, if desired. If Miss E. does not care for these simple finishes, then both pieces could be in the walnut.

The inner room would welcome the Queen Anne secretary and desk chair just opposite the daybed, to balance the placement of the upright piano against the jutting wall in the other room. The vista into the back part of the room would be very pleasant if this important piece is used to break the outline of the irregular wall. Opposite the desk group we might use the daybed, corresponding with the sofa in the other room, and two small end tables or book tables with lamps at each side of the daybed would help the effect of the wall very much indeed.

The chairs to the right and left of the desk could be the same in type as the one suggested for the sofa group in the other room. If this similarity is observed it will help to unify the scheme, and the chairs will also prove most convenient in the front room for extra seating when company appears. It would be nice to use the lowboy with a bench before it to fill the space to the right of the French doors, and the mirror could be hung above it as at present.

In the way of ornament we shall want good pictures above both sofa and daybed; a picture above the table between the two front windows; interesting lamps and accessories on the tables and perhaps a low bowl of greens or flowers for the top of the upright piano, if Miss E. feels that it needs some embellishment. Then, if the changes and additions are made as suggested, and good color balance and harmony are maintained, there should be an interesting vista from every angle of this two-in-one room. As we study the diagram we see that the plan outlined provides a number of good groups, including one for reading, writing, several for chatting and for the enjoyment of music.... and with the ample daybed and sofa plus the three comfortable overstuffed chairs there is even more than the usual opportunity for sheer rest or sleep.

The September Birthday

THE September birthstone is the sapphire and golden rod is the chosen flower for the month.

These two colors can be beautifully combined in the decorative scheme. Golden rod is so plentiful now that huge clusters of this flower may be generously used in vases, bowls and jardinieres about the rooms. A mantel banked with golden rod and ferns is effective and the dark toned bachelor button might be inserted here and there to give the sapphire coloring.

On center of table have the birthday cake placed on a stem cake plate set in a fluffy frill of sapphire tulle with sprigs of golden rod protruding from between the frills. Have the cake frosted in white and if you cannot get candles to represent sapphires, color a little frosting and decorate the sides of the cake with dots of the sapphire frosting. Along the top edge of the cake make a narrow border of golden rod. Use the yellow rose candleholders and dip white candles in sapphire coloring or use yellow candles and stud them with tiny sapphires of sealing wax.

Taking Unfair Advantage

MARJORIE'S mother refused to give her consent to the girl's engagement. She said she didn't like Bob. Marjorie's sweetheart, but gave no plausible reason for her attitude. To make matters worse, she became very ill, and took to her bed. Marjorie, who was devoted to her mother, became alarmed, and postponed her engagement. Mrs. Watkins recovered very shortly.

Every time Marjorie spoke of announcing her engagement her mother became ill. Finally, Bob refused to wait any longer, accusing Marjorie of not really caring for him. Marjorie, full of fears for her mother's health, broken-heartedly, gave him up!

Thus Mrs. Watkins ruined her daughter's happiness. Of course, she didn't realize that she was simply using her ill health as a club over her child's head. But that is just what she was doing! How very cruel and unfair of a parent to get her own way by using her child's affection for her!

In spite of the fact that Mrs. Watkins did not realize what she was doing, most people would condemn her conduct. But how many parents use very similar methods with their small children without a single qualm of conscience! "Mother won't love you any more if you don't come right here," says a fond parent; and her little girl apprehensively drops her play and rushes to her. "You make mother cry," says another mother, as she hides her head in her hands. And her young one, all repentance, tearfully begs her to stop crying and promises "never to do it again."

Wilfully taking advantage of their children's affection for them! True, these methods do "work." Parents often gain obedience by these means. But what are they doing to the personality of their children? When we threaten a young child with withdrawal of affection we cause his whole world to topple. Parents are as gods to their little ones. The children cannot live without their affection and approval. Little tots should never have to doubt their parents' love for an instant! When they do, life becomes too horribly insecure!

Then, too, these unfortunate youngsters are being robbed of all independence. Parents should replace blind, unquestioning obedience just as soon as possible with reasoning obedience and self-guidance. These young ones are being held in slavery! They are not being taught how to distinguish right from wrong and how to make wise choices. They are merely learning to watch their parents' faces, apprehensive of displeasing them. Such methods are exceedingly harmful to the young ones—even more harmful, perhaps, than severe punishment.

GETTING NO BETTER EVERY DAY

INDEPENDENT radio interests, represented by former Senator James A. Reed, contend the Radio Corporation of America is seeking a monopoly of the air and gradually acquiring it. So you can look forward to the following news items any day now:

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29, 1935—The full bench of the Supreme Court handed down a decision today confirming the rights of the Radio Corporation of America to the control of all air, atmosphere, dust particles, germs, odors, soot, rainbows, zephyrs, hurricanes and other aerial flora and fauna. The R. C. A. was granted rights to everything from the ground up, except vacuums.

A minority decision by the court held that while the national air was written by Francis Scott Key, it was controlled by the Radio Corporation. Three rousing raspberries greeted the decision.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3, 1935—The Football Rules Committee here tonight voted to refuse to pay tribute to the R. C. A. for the use of the air this fall. To circumvent the levy announced by the company, the committee abolished punting and the forward pass. It was also decided to stuff the footballs with eiderdown this year.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 23, 1935—The parachute jumper at the State Fair was arraigned in court this morning for using the air without a license from the R. C. A. It was alleged that yesterday, while descending from a balloon, the aerialist disregarded the "No trespassing here" and "Don't tread on the air" signs suspended in midair by the company. He was sentenced to thirty days of solitary confinement in a vacuum.

AKRON, O., Oct. 15, 1935—Eleven factories making balloon tires closed their doors today. The rubber interests announced the price of air needed to keep the tires inflated was prohibitive. Air smuggled over the border from Canada was too cold and the bootlegged atmosphere from Mexico too hot.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27, 1935—Margie Dooley and Yetta Simcowitz of 16 and 18 East Houston Street, respectively, were fined $10 each in Municipal Court today for defrauding the Radio Corporation. Evidence indicated the defendants chatted across the air-shaft without dropping a nickel in the aerophone slot.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10, 1935—Washington Monument was dynamited and blown down this morning by permission of the government. The granite shaft was found to be interfering with radio transmission of the R. C. A., so it was removed for the good of the service. Permission has also been granted by the Secretary of the Interior for leveling off Pike's Peak.

CHICAGO, Nov. 27, 1935—On petition of the Radio Corporation, a blanket injunction was issued this afternoon enjoining all hop fiends, engaged couples and bucket shop investors from building castles in the air. The company claims its rights were being violated.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3, 1935—The Prince of Wales set foot in America this morning on an official visit. The prince was whisked from the Battery to the R. C. A. Building and welcomed by the president of the company, who presented him with the freedom of the air. The prince responded with a neat speech of g[illegible]e and took a deep breath.

THIS AND THAT

This summer Gene Tunney is quoting Carlyle's essay on Robert Burns, but our favorite tobacco literature is still Will Rogers's essay on Bull Durham.

Brazil has just elected an opposition Beauty Queen of the Universe. This should be a great incentive for scientists to discover enough planets for them both to rule.

We note that Irving Berlin, De Wolf Hopper and Harpo Marx will take the stump for Heywood Broun. Harpo, we presume, will furnish the gestures.

Then there was the factory girl who made $18 a week from boxing matches—the Swedish kind.

What we would like to see is a man with enough courage to name sixty-four rulers of Italy.

It may be hard on the eyes, but night baseball should bring about a decreased mortality among office boys' grandmothers.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."
Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

POLICE HUNT FOR HOLDUP MAN HERE

The hunt for the youthful holdup man who within the past few days has attempted to holdup three women, was continued by police last night when residents in the vicinity of Twenty-eighth street and Barrett avenue reported that a strange man was seen wandering in the vicinity.

When police arrived on the scene, however, the man had disappeared.

The actions of the man aroused suspicion of the neighborhood. It is definitely known that he entered the rear yard of a home.

The latest report of the bandits activities was made by Mrs. Marie Ripley, 138 South Fifth street, who told police that while walking home alone from a lodge meeting Wednesday night, a young man accosted her with a gun and asked for money.

The bandit grasped her by the arm and tried to lead her into the shadows, but she pulled the other way. She told police he followed her a short distance until she neared the home of a friend where she creamed.

The bandit, whom Mrs. Ripley describes as being about 18 or 19 years of age and having light hair, fled when Mrs. Ripley screamed.

Earlier in the evening Mrs. J. R. Cameron, 430 Twentieth street notified police that a friend of hers, Mrs. Margaret Hull of San Pablo, had told her of an attempted robbery at Twenty-third and Market streets, San Pablo. Mrs. Hull was accosted by a young man, she said who commanded her to put up her hands.

She screamed and ran, the bandit fleeing in the other direction she told police.

Miss Mildred Michan, 509 Riverside Drive, San Pablo, reported the other attempted robbery. She told police that she discovered a man following her along Twenty-third street near Rheem avenue and she immediately dropped her purse and ran, the man running after her.

Miss Michan ran to a nearby garage where she notified police. The purse was found where she had dropped it, but no trace of the bandit was found.

At Bombay Court

HUGE CROWDS gathering in front of the compound of the Chief Presidency Magistrate's Court during the trial of congress leaders who were arrested in Bombay, India, in connection with the demonstrations of Tilak Day procession. * * * *

Through an accident it became known that the lieutenant was the youngest son of the man commanding an army corps.

* * * *

The youth, so it seemed, was quite proud of being a son of his father . . . who was a real fighting man.

* * * *

But the kid couldn't make the grade. He was afraid.

* * * *

Just before the final drive of the war, he was sent back to base and was benzined . . . in other words, dishonorably discharged.

* * * *

Keenly feeling his disgrace, the youth stripped off his insignia of rank, picked up a rifle, and joined his old outfit the night of Nov. 10, unnoticed.

* * * *

On the morning of November 11, just after the last shot was found, they discovered his body in front of a machine gun nest . . .

* * * *

But before the youth had died, he had silenced the nest with a hand grenade.

* * * *

And so the Umpteenth division calls this man, the last man to die in the great war.

SAMOAN ASKS FOR MODERN CULTURE

HONOLULU, T. H., Sept. 18.—UP—White flannels instead of grass skirts and golf courses instead of bows and arrows, are topics of timely interest to the Samoans, the congressional Samoan commission discovered here today.

The commission, headed by Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut, stopped off here en route to Samoa, and at the close of today's hearings during which they argued the best means of "preserving Samoan primitive culture," they were somewhat abashed to discover that Samoa doesn't want its "primitive culture" preserved, but quite the reverse. Wishes to forget its primordial past and "go modern."

The authority for this declaration was no less a personage than Chief Kipani Sua, of Samoa, who appeared before the commission and voiced vigorous protest at various witnesses' avowed intent to maintain the islands as sort of mid-Pacific antique shop, for touring Americans to label "quaint," as they amble through in custody of Cook or Whitcomb.

Aid Asked

Chief Sua demanded that his native land be given the right and the opportunity to climb upwards in the scale of civilization and to be allowed to keep step with the progress of civilization.

"The younger generation in Samoa doesn't want to keep its native primitiveness just to satisfy the curiosity of the world," declared the chieftain.

"We want to become modern and to prosper as do the other nations of modernity."

Sua pointed as an example to the Tongan peoples of a more southerly group of islands as the only group of Polynesians living under their own civil government, and declared that this was due to their having discarded their ancient semi-barbaric customs, and their receptiveness to education and modern methods.

Land Poor

Chief Sua admitted that his country was too poor to support a civil government, and expressed appreciation of the methods of the naval administration by which America now rules in Samoa under the organic act, but he offered certain suggestions to the commissioners.

He pressed for addition of a certain amount of autonomy, asked for American citizenship for Samoans, representation at Washington similar to that of other territories whose acres are subject to congress, and expressed indignation at alleged exploitation of the natives by some property owners.

Previous to Chief Sua's appearance before the commission, the other witnesses in the course of the proceedings had been American citizens residing in Honolulu. Chief Sua was the only Samoan to appear, and his emphatic demands for modern reforms and improvements left the commission in a dubious frame of mind as to the ease with which it could impress upon the Samoans its desire to "preserve their primitive culture."

The committee sails for the island tomorrow.

PROBE LOOMS IN FLIER DEATH

a hint that both had talked of who might die first in the air. She said:

"To my husband—Bob,

"If I go before you, do not grieve, be content as I am content. Finish your work and make me proud of you. I'll always love you and wait—and sweetheart, keep my pretty wedding ring always. Ruth."

Notes Found

There was another note, sealed, to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Blaney of Irving, Kas. She had hoped to spend the night with them and, it is now believed, to see her husband had she reached New York.

There had been another romance in the life of the aviator. In Kansas she had married a youth named Alexander, but they parted.

It was 3:28:30 a. m. when she took off from Lindbergh field.

Engine Good

The engine of the Barling plane was purring steadily.

Miss Alexander told officials at the field that she would fly northward to gain altitude, then head east and attempt to climb far enough above the fog to assure a safe crossing of the mountains. If the ship would not rise high enough the girl said she would return to the field within 15 minutes.

Friends and officials waited 30 minutes and she did not come back. Residents near Point Loma notified police of the crash. Apparently the girl had realized that she was about to strike the ground and turned off the ignition switch. There was no fire. Her body lay mangled in the plane. Beside her was the little toy dog she had carried as an omen of success on recent flights.

Mothers of the troop provided the refreshments and they were served by members of the troop committee.

Mothers, fathers and sons joined together in playing scout games after the awards, and reported a pleasant evening.

Members of the District Court of Honor who were present were: John Opman, A. F. Ausfahl and George Upham.

Field Executive Robert F. Cox complimented the troop on its advancement, and invited the fathers to attend the training courses for scout leaders.

Radio Police Capture Thieves

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—UP—Detectives Jerry Desmond and Alvin Corra, a of the automobile detail stopped Joe Trupiano, 19, and George Duff, 16, and began questioning them concerning the ownership of their automobile. Just as the boys had convinced the officers that it was their own car, the police radio in the detectives' machine burst out with "reported, stolen, sedan, license so-and-so." It was the car before them, so Jerry and Alvin took Joe and George off to jail, where the latter two expressed no wish for a radio in their cell.

Irwin Named In Fight Probe

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—UP—In a statement made here late today, John R. B. Tyrell, assistant district attorney, announced that he had assigned three men to investigate charges that Toby Irwin, prominent referee, had placed bets on fights in which he officiated.

"While the informants have refused to sign complaints against Irwin we are continuing investigation of the charges," Tyrell said.

The district attorney's office has been making a complete study of boxing in this city since the deaths of Frankie Campbell and Johnny Auderson as a result of beatings received in recent bouts.

A coroner's jury issued a verdict today absolving Reinhart Kuehl of blame for Anderson's death and said all rules of the state athletic commission had been complied with during the fight. A similar verdict was issued earlier in the week at the inquest into the death of Campbell, in that case Max Baer being held blameless.
